HOLIDAY HANDKERCHIEFS.

MORE HANDKERCHIEFS—FINER, PRETTIER, AND CHEAPER HANDKERCHIEFS—than we ever before exhibited, and there's more style and quality and intrinsic worth in them than you've ever had a chance to get for so little money. The reason is we import them, so, after the man makes them, ours is the only profit. There are several hundreds of dozens here in every good kind and style procurable on the other side. They are linen, of course—all linen, guaranteed absolutely. This of some kinds and the way we've marked them:

NO VIRGINIAN THERE.

RIVER AND HARBOR COMMITTEE TO STAND UNALTERED.

MR. EPES PROPOSED FOR THE PLACE

He is Claimed to Have Been the Choice of a Majority of the Old Dominion Delegation—Other Personalities of Interest.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 7.—(Special.)—It seems to be settled now that there will not be any Virginia representative on the River and Harbor Committee. Speaker Henderson stated to-day a delegation of Virginians that the committee was already full and complete. All the members of the old committee had been re-elected, he said, and he intended to make no change, nor would there be any increase of membership, which might justify the possibility of additional appointments. This announcement was made by the Speaker himself to the gentlemen who called upon him to-day, urging the appointment of Representative Epes on the committee in question. It is claimed that a majority of the Virginia members were in favor of Mr. Epes, and that if the State was to be represented on the committee he would have the appointment.

Governor Tyler had a talk with Representative Lamb over the long-drawn-out question to-day. Representatives from the latter gentleman had himself to the Census Bureau, where he had an interview with Director Merriam and made a strong appeal in behalf of an applicant for a position, who is endorsed by the Governor. The Congressman came away with assurances that Mr. Merriam would do the best he could under the circumstances.

PILOT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the National Pilot Association was held at the Metropolitan Hotel here to-day. Representatives from all the leading seaports of the country being present. Considerable business of importance was transacted, and the following officers were re-elected: J. J. O'Brien, of Pennsylvania, president; John Phelan, of New York, vice-president; and E. G. Martin, of Boston, secretary and treasurer. Captain Oscar L. Edwards represented the Virginia Pilot Association, president of the Norfolk Pilot Association.
